Reflecting on Service-Learning in Higher Education: Contemporary Issues and Perspectives examines forms of pedagogy such as service-learning, experiential learning, and problem-based learning in order to determine how students make connections between and among abstract academic concepts and real-life issues. This edited collection is divided into three sections—"Reflecting on Community Partnerships," "Reflecting on Classroom Practice," and "Reflecting on Diversity"—so as to represent interdisciplinary subjects, diverse student populations, and differing instructional perspectives about service-learning in higher education. Contributors provide service-learning programs and plans that can be replicated or adapted at other institutions of higher education. This book is recommended for scholars and practitioners of education.

Administrative reforms for India Emerald Group Publishing

Administrative reforms are long overdue in India as the present administrative system is obsolete and continuing as a legacy from British Raj. It is not coping with the ever-changing needs and aspirations of the ever-growing population of the country. Administrative set-up should be redesigned to work more efficiently and to bring transparency, accountability, efficacy and high-speed response into governance to meet the aspirations of the people before their anger turns into revolt against the elected governments. Zero corruption government should be the bedrock of an advanced democracy. We need to restructure and reboot the present administrative format into a more responsive entity to give quality services and equal opportunities to all citizens, instantly on demand at a single platform. These administrative reforms are aimed at removing corruption, arrogance and lethargy at all levels and in all forms
